Legislature Authorizes 12 New Deputies

By Lynn Mulvaney

KINGSTON

Permission to hire 12 new deputies for Ulster County Jail was granted Sheriff Thomas Mayone Thursday night when the Ulster County Legislature, after considerable discussion, voted 28 to 1 for the $47,000 expenditure in salaries for the remainder of the year.

While voting in favor of hiring the additional employees, Legislator William R. West (R-Dist. 4) sought unsuccessfully to amend the resolution asking that the board, in the future "take a hard look at where Ulster County is going financially and sit down and say where our priorities are."

Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City) said he agreed with that concept but felt that Mayone needed the additional men, asking that West put his suggestion in the form of a separate resolution for action in the future.

Republicans and Democrats alike heaped praise on the work Mayone has been doing since he took office in January indicating that they did not want to tie his hands at this time if additional help is necessary.

The lone opponent to the hiring of the deputies was Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1).

At the afternoon session of the board Mayone explained that the present number of deputies now employed at the jail is far less than those employed before he took office. He emphasized that he was hiring deputies on a full time basis compared to the many part time deputies employed under the previous administration. He cited the need for more men saying he was short 44, the number employed in 1974. "Give me the manpower and we will keep that place (the jail) in tact," he said, alluding to the fact that the jail has been trouble-free in recent months.

The legislature also approved by a vote of 22 to 7, contracts for plumbing, heating and electrical work at the New Paltz Pool site.

The proposal called for the acceptance of a $66,000 plumbing and heating bid by C.B. Strain and Son, Inc., Kingston and a $66,900 bid for electrical work submitted by Whitman Electric, Inc. Also, a per unit price bid for building materials from Singer Denman Lumber, Boiceville. The county will do its own construction work on the bathhouses, recreation building and storage area.

Those opposed to the proposal were all Democrats — George Barthel, Eugene Houck and Louis Resnick all of Dist. 7; Richard Thornton of Dist. 1 and John Dwyer, Eugene Perry and Dr. Gorman, all of the City of Kingston.

Two proposals to amend the rules concerning persons addressing the legislature, a bone of contention between the GOP and the Democrats, both went down to defeat. The Republican plan, advanced first, failed to get the necessary 17 votes, being defeated 16-13. The Democratic proposal, voted on next, failed for the same reason, going down to defeat by a 13-16 vote.

Presently those wanting to address the legislature make their request in advance of the meeting and, if granted, they are able to speak at the 4 p.m. session of the board. The system will be continued.

In other action, the legislature voted to:

- Hold a public hearing on Ulster County Community College budget Aug. 14 at 2 p.m. in the County Office Building.

- Study the feasibility of creating an industrial development board.

- Provide funds for a mass transportation capital improvement grant for a mini-bus for senior citizens.

- Distribute to seven Ulster County bus companies a grant of $29,242.22 provided by the New York State Department of Transportation. Four legislators voted against the proposal — Steven Hyatt (R-Dist. 2), Louis Bevier (R-Dist. 8), George Kirk (R-Dist. 4) and James Palen (R-Dist. 8).

- Return $100 fees paid to the county by 21 labor and migrant labor camps because the Board of Health deemed the fees "excessive."

Four legislators were absent: Glenn A. Debrosky (R-Dist. 6), Richard D. Nace (R-Dist. 2), Thomas Roach (R-Dist. 8) and George Sisti (R-Dist. 8).

State's $96.4 Million Supplemental Budget Headed for Approval

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Despite some criticism and last moment attempts at changes a $96.4 million cash supplemental state budget was headed for final approval today as the legislature wound down the 1975 session.

A $51.4 million item to provide a controversial one-time $250 payment to state workers represented by the Civil Service Employees Association in lieu of a pay increase was a major item in the supplemental, passed each year to pay for projects and programs not funded in the main budget approved in late March. Despite the nearly $100 million cash outlay, the overall spending will increase by only $25 million the state's $10.4 billion budget adopted April 1. Some of the funds, including the raises for state employees, had been included in that document.

The legislature will get an additional $3.2 million for its operations. A detailed breakdown of where that money will be spent was not available in the committee summary. It will be known, however, when the actual budget bill, is reported into the two houses. Reportedly it contains some additional expense money for various lawmakers who are heading committees.

The supplemental budget also includes $191.5 million for construction projects, but because these are paid for by bonds, they do not represent an immediate outgo from the state's treasury. Included in the capital construction is $95.4 million for 56 new sewage treatment plants and to meet increased costs for 23 others. The Olympics come in for a share, with $1,066,000 in funds for "first-phase" improvements at Whiteface Mountain and Mt. Van Hoevenberg for the 1980 Winter Olympics, which will be held at Lake Placid. In addition, the governor's office is granted $100,000 to program state participation in the games.

Other items:

- $15 million for the state's share of air pollution control projects in Broome and Westchester counties.

- $11.6 million to improve services at Willowbrook and other Mental Hygiene Department facilities throughout the state and to bolster community mental health programs.

- $7.5 million in advance funds, to be repaid later, for a laser sciences building at the University of Rochester.

- $15.9 million for highway construction and $1 million for the Town Highway and Bridge improvements program.

- $2.5 million for three New York City educational pilot programs.

- $1.5 million advanced, to be repaid later, to the Kidney Disease Institute to expand the home dialysis program.

- $1.6 million to bolster the state's alcoholic treatment program.

- $1.5 million for construction and repairs at state prison facilities.

- $400,000 to strengthen the State Consumer Protection Board.

- $759,000 for the Department of Agriculture and markets for milk control and poultry inspection programs.

Blue Laws in Trouble

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The state's highest court has served notice on local communities that future convictions for violation of Sunday sales bans will be thrown out unless there is a change in the sporadic way in which the law is enforced.

The Court of Appeals came within one vote Thursday of declaring the so-called Blue Laws unconstitutional. The court, in a six-to-one decision, overturned the conviction of three supermarkets because of "discriminatory enforcement" of the laws.

Judge Matthew Jasen, in a majority opinion, said the convictions should be overturned because "absent a policy of general enforcement" prosecution "constitutes discrimination of the equal protection clauses of the federal and state constitutions."

Judges Sol Wachtler, Hugh R. Jones and Jacob D. Fuchsberg favored outlawing the statute on constitutional grounds.

The three, in an opinion written by Wachtler, said, "The fact that Judge Jasen finds the only feasible manner of enforcement to be discriminatory as a matter of law, signals a serious infirmity in the statutory scheme."

The cases against Acme Markets Inc., J.C.B. Supermarket Inc., Loblaws Inc. and Abbott Road Market Inc. involved complaints by Local 34, Amalgamated Meatcutters' Union, whose territory includes Erie County and Western New York.

Some of the officers and business agents of the local purchased restricted items on two Sundays in January and February 1972 and then turned their evidence over to the Erie County district attorney, who prosecuted the cases.

The defense, in arguments before the high court, relied heavily on the testimony of the district attorney and representatives of state and local police agencies regarding the way in which the law was enforced.

Perhaps most significant was the testimony of a retired deputy superintendent of the state police that "it was the policy that the State Police acted only upon Sunday sales complaints and informations filed by private citizens."

Attempting DJ Record

Woodstock's contribution to the art of spinning platters has been doing his thing since July 4, non-stop, 24 hours a day in a try at breaking the Guinness Book of Records current 630 hour (26 day) endurance record. Magis Markie, who also operated the town's only "head shop", has been closeted at Rosa's Cantina, which is open around the clock for the Disco Enduro, where he may be viewed. He sleeps only during LP's, and must wake up to change records. (Freeman photo)

Senate House Roof: Repair or Rebuild?

By Hugh Reynolds

KINGSTON

The Senate House, burned by the British in 1777, is once again under fire, this time the issue being whether or not to raze its roof.

At issue is a $29,000 contract opened by the state Division of Historic Preservation in May that would remove the Senate House's existing copper-roof—installed in 1920—for a "more authentic" wood shingle roof which historic interests feel would give it more of its original 1676 look.

The controversy was ignited by a local taxpayers group, WHITA, who through one of its members, Thomas Cerwonka, a licensed professional engineer, raised questions with the state on the project.

HITA and Cerwonka suggested initially that the roof might not have to be replaced. Cerwonka says that a copper roof like the one on the Senate House should last "hundreds of years." He further suggests that based on his preliminary examinations of the situation, the roof can be repaired for a good deal less than its $3,000 to $4,000 scrap value. The leaks are located in three valleys and in one chimney flashing.

Frederick L. Rath, deputy commissioner for the Division of Historic Preservation, takes quite the opposite position, contending the roof is "badly deteriorated" and that its leaking could cause potentially severe damage to the building itself.

Cerwonka and WHITA wrote back to Rath in mid-June asking for a dual (WHITA and the state) inspection of the roof to determine the extent of damage. Rath refused, pointing out that bids had already been received on the project.

WHITA and Cerwonka then took their case to state local officials, Senators Edwyn Mason and Richard Schermerhorn and Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey.

In fact, all three had been kept apprised of the on-going exchange of correspondence but it wasn't until July 7 that their support was solicited along with the governor's.

If anything, the state legislator's joining the fray has heated things up.

Schermerhorn and Mason support WHITA while Hinchey backs the historic interests.

"It is unbelievable to me, when at a time where the state is experiencing great difficulty in financing services, that such an irresponsible move will be undertaken by one of your agencies," Schermerhorn wrote Rath. "I would hope that your agency will abandon this project."

"Typical Schermerhorn myopia," retorts Hinchey.

"What's he know about restoration of historic places?" Hinchey continued. "I think the restoration of the Senate House particularly during the bicentennial should be left in the hands of those who know restoration best. Besides that, there are a lot of people who can use the jobs. The unemployment among roofers is somewhere around 75 percent."

"There's only one Senate House in the State of New York," concludes Hinchey, "and for the bicentennial we should do it right. I don't think $35,000 (the total amount figuring salvage value of the copper, carpentry, and architect's fees) is an awful lot of money to spend for that kind of project. I think it's well spent."

Mason wades in with "I think these historical people are out of their minds. They say they're concerned with authenticity. I say it's a damned thin excuse to spend the public money on something that's not needed."

Mason, who said he was once a roofer, says he supports WHITA and Cerwonka in their contention that a new roof isn't needed.

Cerwonka is holding out for an inspection which he feels will justify WHITA contention that anew roof isn't needed.

And he offers this final fuel to the controversy. "If they're really concerned with protecting the building, there's nothing like a copper roof. It's more water tight than a wood shingle roof and it's less vulnerable to fire." Cerwonka says a wood shingle roof would last only 25 years.

The decision now lies with state officials who up until Mason and Schermerhorn intervened, gave every indication of continuing with the removal and replacement of the Senate House roof.

Note: Cerwonka works in plant maintenance at IBM. He's the same man who designed and supervised the installation of emergency roofing at the old city hall on Broadway.

Rosendale Gets Its Recreation Center

By Jon Powers

ROSENDALE

Now that Town of Rosendale voters have authorized a $195,000 bond issue for purchase of the former Sportsmen's Park recreation area, town officials are looking to the Palisades Interstate Park Commission (PIPC) in hopes of getting some of that money back.

How quickly PIPC reacts to the town's application for a matching funds grant will probably determine when the town can take title to the property and open the complete facility to the public.

matching funds," said town supervisor Richard Glazer, "I think our chances for some funding are very good, but you never know."

If the town does get funds from Palisades, that amount will be subtracted from the bond issue, relieving some of the load on local taxpayers. If Palisades declines to provide funding, Rosendale residents will pay an estimated $1.20 per $1,000 of assessed valuation for the life of the 40-year bond.

"Palisades wouldn't give us any definite commitments until they had a chance to look at the site," Glazer commented, "and they wouldn't look at the site until the voters approved the referendum. That's where we are now."

Meanwhile, the swimming pool at Sportsmen's Park — one of the largest outdoor pools in Ulster County — remains open to town residents. With approval of the bond issue, the town will no longer have to pay the $3,500 yearly rental fee for use of the pool.

When the rest of the facility — which includes 13 acres of land, a football field, a restaurant building and a pavilion — will be available for town use depends on when PIPC acts on the application for matching funds. Glazer indicated that the town could conceivably take title to the property before the end of this summer's recreation season.

The supervisor labeled as "totally incorrect" the contention of the Rosendale Conservative Party, which urged voters to defeat the referendum, that it will cost between $40,000 and $50,000 a year to maintain the recreation facility. "In new money, we're talking about $8,000 a year," said Glazer, "the major piece of maintenance is the pool. We will continue to charge a $25 per season fee for use of the pool (or $1 per day), so we believe it will be self-supporting."

Glazer pointed out that the concession stand at the site and the restaurant, which will be rented out for special occasions such as banquets and weddings, will generate revenue for the town. For that reason, Glazer said he believes the entire facility might be self-supporting within five years.

"I think this is a very important thing for the town," said Glazer, "the people have taken a significant step in their growth. We now have a year-round recreation center, and everyone in the town owns a piece of it."

Singer Demands Koenig Withdrawal

KINGSTON

The conservative controversy continued to bubble in Kingston with Party Chairman Bernard Singer demanding today that Mayor Francis R. Koenig, the party's nominee, withdraw as a candidate.

Koenig, on Thursday, suggested that a Conservative primary (against him) at an estimated cost (Koenig's) of some $3,000, might prove a burden on the taxpayers.

"If he's so concerned about the public dollar, why doesn't withdraw?" Singer challenged.

Koenig's answer is that he's the party's nominee and that he's "in this thing to stay."

Koenig was nominated by the Conservatives at their convention on June 26 after some 15 years as an endorsed Liberal. In gaining the nomination he defeated Singer 18-11, and the Republican candidate, William K. Darling, by an 18-5 vote.

Singer does express some admiration for the mayor's political acumen. "He did his homework," Singer said. "I have to give him 'A' for effort and 'A' for achievement. He's still working very hard at it rounding up signatures and support for the primary."

It is all but certain that Singer will be the candidate to a "strong possibility" (in his own words) in the past week. "The public should have a truly Conservative choice," Singer declared. "Koenig's no Conservative. He's a Liberal."

As for the mayor's expressed concern about the cost of the primary, Singer asks, "Where was his concern over the much greater expense when Hugh Carey challenged Howard Samuels last year in a Democratic gubernatorial primary?"

Legislation Planned to Protect Black Creek and ASDA Sites

By Jon Powers

TOWN OF ESOPUS
It now appears that foes of nuclear power can't depend on Black Creek to thwart the Atomic and Space Development Authority's (ASDA) plans to develop a site in the Town of Lloyd for future atomic generation.

According to most recent indications, legislation will be introduced in Albany that will, in effect, protect both Black Creek and the 2,300-acre ASDA site.

It was two years ago that sportsmen persuaded local representatives to draft legislation seeking Black Creek's inclusion in the state's Wild, Scenic and Recreational Rivers System. The original legislation, introduced by Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey (D-101), called for the designation of 2.3 miles of the stream; when it was realized that designation would impose strict land use controls over a mile wide corridor along the stream, the proposed designation area was increased to 8.6 miles, encompassing a part of the ASDA site.

But the new legislation, which breezed through the Assembly and Senate, was vetoed last week by Gov. Hugh Carey, partially because it hadn't received the endorsement of Ogden Reid, commissioner of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

Now, Frederick G. Faerber III, president of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County, says Reid has given assurances that he will support a Black Creek designation bill . . . but not the one the anti-nuclear forces had hoped for.

Faerber met with Reid earlier this week, and said the commissioner promised to support a five-mile scenic designation, encompassing an area between the Penn Central railroad bridge near Floyd Acker Road in Esopus and Chodikee Lake, just north of the Highland Training School.

The corridor of protection that a scenic designation would create, said Faerber, still infringes on a section of the ASDA property, including a site considered suitable for one atomic generating plant. But ASDA has said that the overall site can accommodate as many as four nuclear power plants; the other three "acceptable" locations would apparently not be affected by the scenic designation.

And it is conceivable that the fourth plant could be relocated on another section of the 2,300 acre site.

If the scenic designation that Reid reportedly favors is passed by the legislature and signed by the governor, it would also solve the problem of running transmission lines from the proposed plants to a relay station near the Hudson River.

The original 8.6 mile proposed designation area extended south beyond Route 299. Any utility company that decided to build an atomic plant at the site could have been prevented from running transmission lines across any part of the protected area. Under the new five-mile designation, the most logical crossing point would not be affected.

The five-mile proposal will probably satisfy Town of Lloyd officials, as well. They had objected to the 8.6 mile designation, claiming that commercial and residential development — as well as development of a recreation area near the creek — would have been seriously restricted. The latest stretch of Black Creek recommended for protection lies almost exclusively in the Town of Esopus, and would have little, if any, impact on the Town of Lloyd.

And, last but not least, the sportsmen appear satisfied with the new plan. "We would have been satisfied with 2.3 miles," said Faerber. "All we ever wanted was to protect the most fragile areas of the creek. The DEC's proposal will serve that purpose."

Faerber said that public hearings will be held by the DEC sometime this summer or fall, in order to solicit a wider range of opinions on any proposals for a scenic designation. But he added that Reid has promised to expedite the hearing and designation process if land developers begin moving toward the Black Creek area.

For Period Ending 7 a.m. EST Saturday.

Tonight, scattered showers and thundershowers will develop over sections of the northern and southern Rockies, northwest Florida and the Carolinas. Elsewhere, mostly fair weather is predicted. Minimum temperatures include: (approx. max readings in parenthesis) Atlanta 62 (81), Boston 67 (80), Chicago 56 (71), Dallas 68 (88), Denver 53 (79), Duluth 41 (66), Houston 69 (92), Jacksonville 71 (86), Kansas City 57 (74), Los Angeles 66 (75), Miami 75 (88), New Orleans 68 (89), New York 67 (80), Phoenix 86 (108), San Francisco 59 (74), Seattle 56 (74), St. Louis 54 (75), Washington 67 (81).

Freed From Death Sentence

British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan (L) and British lecturer Dennis Hills flank Ugandan President Idi Amin and his young son, Moses, in Kampala, Uganda. (UPI)

Hill Regrets His Remarks

LONDON (UPI) — British lecturer Dennis Hills, freed after three months in a Ugandan prison, says he's sorry he called President Idi Amin "a village tyrant."

Hills told reporters on arriving in London Thursday he had been unaware of negotiations to obtain his release and added, "I am a little bit bewildered by this sudden change in my fortunes."

Amin dramatically freed Hills earlier in the day during a meeting with British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan in Kampala, capital of the East African nation.

A Ugandan military court had sentenced the 61-year-old lecturer to death for referring to Amin in an unpublished manuscript as "a village tyrant."

Asked if he regretted the remark, Hills replied, "Well, that was unparliamentary language. I regret it now and I have expressed my regrets in writing."

Hills spoke in a low, almost inaudible voice. He appeared nervous and read from notes he had prepared in the plane on the way to London.

"In military custody I was treated in accordance with military law," he said. "It would be wrong to make any complaints."

"I am very happy to be back. But I was also happy in Uganda. I like it very much and it wouldn't be fair to make any unfriendly statement."

(In Kampala, Uganda Radio today broadcast

a letter written by Hills to Amin July 4 praising achievements in Uganda and urging the recruitment of more Britons to work there.

In the letter, Hills said reporters should visit Uganda "to dispel their prejudices...and see the creation of a new middle class, the achievements of the farmers, the high standard of discipline in the army and the friendliness of the people.")

Asked if he ever believed his life would be spared, Hills said, "Hope springs eternal. But I accepted the death sentence and, now it has been revoked, I am adjusting to a new situation. I have accepted that too."

"I haven't known what has been going on at all," he said. "Now I realize the debt of gratitude I owe to the British government and to all those who helped me get out of this predicament for which I take full responsibility."

Callaghan told the news conference he obtained Hills' release without concessions or bargains.

But, he said, "I agreed to send out a team of British officials to discuss compensation for former Uganda Asians who were expelled to Britain, credits and prospects for future trade."

"I also discussed with President Amin the question of the British community. He made it clear to me he wishes it to stay there and that he values it and that he wants British citizens to continue to go to Uganda to work there."

Colonel Appeals to U.S.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A kidnaped black American colonel has appealed to the United States to meet his captors' demands and not abandon him because of race.

"I ask my government to release me from the pressure which is weighing on me and my family," Army Col. Ernest Morgan said Thursday. "I believe that this will be my last chance."

The 43-year-old Petersburg, Va., officer said "my government should protect me in time of hardship" in view of his 23 years of military service.

"I should not be abandoned because of my race or color," Morgan said in a tape-recorded message to the U.S. embassy in Beirut.

He said the ransom demands of his kidnapers "will not exceed the price of a few Phantom jets, which America gives Israel almost every day."

"I am aware of the policy of the U.S. not to pay ransoms and yet I seek that the demands be met," he said.

The kidnapers granted Morgan a "final stay of execution" Thursday and gave the United States until Saturday night to begin a massive relief program for a Moslem suburb devastated by last month's religious warfare.

Nuclear Weapon Treaty With Soviets

Kissinger Sees Progress in Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, reporting progress in the search for a strategic arms agreement, met again today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in the Carnival Bar of the Geneva International Hotel to nail down some of the details.

Kissinger, winding up talks with Gromyko before flying to West Germany for a meeting with Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin, said the United States and the Soviet Union are making progress toward a new Strategic Arms Limitation Talks treaty.

"With respect to SALT, we had extensive discussions...and progress was made," Kissinger said on emerging at midnight Thursday from seven hours of talks.

Reporters asked Kissinger if progress was made toward settling the major stumbling block to a new SALT pact — verification.

"I cannot go into the details of a discussion that is still going on, but as I pointed out progress has been made," Kissinger replied.

But he said nothing about talks toward a treaty limiting nuclear tests to blasts of up to 150 kilotons. A senior U.S. official indicated on-site inspections could help police peaceful blasts.

President Ford and Soviet Communist leader Leonid Brezhnev agreed last November in Vladivostok to limit each country to 2,400 nuclear missiles and planes, including 1,320 missiles with multiple warheads.

Today's talks were expected to also include Kissinger's efforts to get Israel and Egypt to agree to an interim Middle East peace pact.

Aides explained the bar was the only spot in Kissinger's headquarters hotel that was both air-conditioned and easily protected by bodyguards.

Kissinger was scheduled to confer with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in Bonn on Saturday, a day after talks with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt.

Egypt has demanded the return of the Abu Rudeis oil fields and Gidi and Mitla passes in the Sinai Desert. Israel has pressed for Egyptian political concessions and U.S. guarantees against treaty violations.

A diplomatic sideshow in Geneva Thursday gave Kissinger and Gromyko an object lesson in the inability of superpowers to get their views adopted all the time.

Malta, demanding the pullout of U.S. and Soviet warships from the Mediterranean, blocked the wishes of 34 other countries trying to arrange a European Security Conference summit for July 30 in Helsinki.

Kissinger later endorsed the European Security Conference summit and called for "as rapid a conclusion as is possible" to the preparatory talks in Geneva.

Sabino on Hospital Water . . . 'I'd Rather Dig Wells'

TOWN OF ULSTER
Some political hustling has entered behind the scenes in Kingston Hospital's decision to relocate near the Thruway circle in the Town of Ulster.

It seems, according to Ulster Supervisor Carmine Sabino's testimony at Thursday night's board meeting, that the City of Kingston only wants to supply water for the relocated hospital if the Town of Ulster will cede that portion of property, to be annexed by Kingston.

Trustees of Kingston Hospital, meeting with Sabino this week, heard him object vigorously to that proposal. He told The Freeman he would "rather dig wells" than submit to this.

The Town of Ulster has been trying for some time to get city water for the Spring Lake section of town, with no luck. Sabino said he wanted to see Spring Lake get water if the hospital does, and no annexations.

But what does Ulster have that Kingston wants? With a worsening garbage situation in the city, Councilman Anthony Cicoria expressed fears that the city would contract with a town firm to use Ulster landfill sites. Until a few years ago, Kingston did dump some garbage in Ulster.

This led to a town board resolution Thursday night to have the town attorney review the present dump ordinance. Cicoria said he wanted an ordinance "that will hold water."

Sabino, after commenting about dealings with Kingston, added, "We cooperate with them, turn around and get kicked in the pants."

He was not enthusiastic about the Ulster County Legislature's past performance, either, stating that town residents get next to no return on their tax dollar. "I think they (legislators) need a rude awakening," he said.

And he complained that the town was spending $75,000 a year on its constables while "not getting cooperation" from the Sheriff's Department. He said the Sheriff's Department ignored town constables in radio calls, preferring to bring in county patrol cars from further away than ask for town police to handle a matter.

Supervisor categorized both the Kingston water deal and troubles with the Sheriff's Department as politically motivated.

The board engaged also in a lengthy discussion on the welfare problems in the town, with Councilman Edward Crosby noting "We're out of money and it's only July 10 . . . Welfare is getting out of hand."

Judge Sherwood Davis said there was "complete callousness" on the part of county Social Services Department workers not investigating living conditions for recipients. "If you're going to spend the money, let's at least give the people a little dignity," he commented.

Sabino pointed out that a new town procedure has the building inspector checking residences of welfare recipients before they are approved for assistance.

He asked for citizen cooperation in keeping an eye on welfare conditions. "We'll wind up like downtown Kingston if we don't watch out," he declared ominously.

Prior to the regular meeting, a public hearing was held on the question of allowing a New Jersey developer a subdivision regulation variance to construct 125 townhouse units on a parcel of land behind Chambers Elementary School. No action was taken on Spring Meadow Townhouses, a sequel to condominiums that were planned for that site, a project which had town board approval.

A representative of Spages Construction Company of Hawthorne, N.J. declared, on questioning, that no local lending institutions would finance the condominium approach. He also stated that no financing had been secured yet for the townhouses, and no total cost estimate was available.

Davis protested vigorously the fact that so few people knew of the public hearing, and declared he would not be able to consider the request until he had much more information. "I want to hear what the people in the area have to say," he stated. The units, according to the developer, would be broken down into 51 3-bedroom; 50 2-bedroom; and 24 1-bedroom units, ranging in cost from $29,000 to $39,000. The townhouse concept has each resident owning his own property. Condominiums would have shared services.

Approve Youth Bureau

KINGSTON
Ulster County, like many other counties in the state will now have its own youth bureau for which federal and state funds are available.

The county board, meeting Thursday night voted 24 to 3 with two abstentions to create the bureau which will be staffed by a director, secretary and other clerical help.

Support from representatives of 11 agencies and organizations in the county came at the afternoon session of the board where a steady stream of proponents extolled the blessings the bureau will bring to the boys and girls of the county.

Among speakers were City Planner Robert Prichard who told the legislature that Mayor Francis R. Koenig "fully" backs the youth bureau. Also Deputy Police Chief William Slover who said he felt the bureau would be a great help to other agencies and Tom Johnson, director of the Juvenile Aid Bureau of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, who urged that careful consideration be given in the choosing of a youth bureau director. He also urged that the bureau not override the responsibilities of other agencies.

Proponents also included representatives of Big Sisters, Family of Woodstock, Ulster

County Probation Department and United Way among others.

All legislators present voted for the bureau with the exception of Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2), George Kirk (R-Dist. 1). Abstaining were Lewis Hall (R-Dist. 2) and William West (R-Dist. 4). Absent were Glenn A. Debrosky (R-Dist. 6), Richard D. Nace (R-Dist. 2), Thomas Roach (R-Dist. 8) and George Sisti (R-Dist. 8).

The state and county share the administrative expenses of a youth board equally. It is expected that the county's share will be around $15,000 and that it will receive $135,000 in state aid.

New Standards

KINGSTON

Kingston City Schools Consolidated has received from the State Education Department revised income standards used to determine eligibility of students for free and reduced price meals in district schools.

Schools are required to serve free meals to all children from families with a gross income at or below the following income levels.

Free meals are furnished if the family income is below the indicated income levels, with the number of persons in the family shown in parenthesis. (1) $3,230; (2) $4,240; (3) $5,250; (4) $6,260; (5) $7,190; (6) $8,110; (7) $8,950; (8) $9,750; (9) $10,550; (10) $11,310. For each additional family member add $750.

Corresponding income maximums for reduced cost lunches, furnished by the district for 10 cents, are: (1) $4,520; (2) $5,930; (3) $7,350; (4) $8,770; (5) $10,060; (6) $11,360; (7) $12,530; (8) $13,700; (9) $14,770; (10) $15,840. For each additional family member add $1,050.

Louis A. Salzmann, superintendent of schools, noted that families must make application to be eligible for the programs. During the first week of school in September students will be given letters outlining the program and outlining the procedure to be followed in making application.

"No one who received free or reduced price lunches last year will be denied them during the time eligibility is being established this year," he said.

Van to Visit Kingston

The mobile hypertension van sponsored by the Community Services Department of the Greater New York Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists will be at the Kingston Shopping Plaza from noon to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, July 16, and Thursday, July 17. Free blood pressure readings will be given to all over six years of age. Qualified personnel using the latest in medical equipment staff the specially designed unit. The actual test takes just a few minutes and persons with elevated pressure will be referred to their local physician or public health clinic for treatment. (Freeman photo)

State to Acquire Arterial Property Soon

KINGSTON The State Department of Transportation may begin acquiring private property along the right of way of the proposed North-South Arterial (the "Kingston Arterial") by the end of this summer.

James G. Connors, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency declined predicting what the state will do on the arterial — Connors has been trying to get it built since he arrived in Kingston in 1969 but he figures it has to be soon.

"There's no indication on when they'll begin to acquire private property," says Connors, but they're almost done with us and I presume private acquisition will follow.

It would seem that the state's acquisition of property already acquired and cleared by the agency would be a simple thing but it hasn't worked out that way. "They do things their own way," he says of state land acquisition practices. "They've taken title to over 100 of our properties," Connors said. "They've got questions on seven that are left."

The state has approved payment to the agency — $956,000 for the property it acquired along the North-South right of way. And the state has given the agency a target date for a construction start — May of 1977 — and finish — September of 1979 — so Connors appears more optimistic than usual.

Elsewhere, the news is less encouraging.

City Hall Plaza is not much closer to fruition than it was six months ago when the agency first began serious discussions with Thomas Sentar of Port Ewen.

Sentar heads up Hurley Real Estate Inc. which is the approved redeveloper for the shopping complex but has yet to sign what Mayor Francis R. Koenig has called the "key" to the whole project — a major supermarket.

Sentar, Connors said, was close to agreement with a Kerhonkson firm which operates an IGA store down there but it fell through two weeks ago. Connors said, however that Sentar now has an IGA franchise and is considering the possibility of opening a store and hiring a manager.

The Hadler Nursing Home likewise has been held up for years, mainly due to financing, but Connors suggests this summer may tell the tale.

Dr. Morris Hadler, owner of the Albany Avenue nursing home, has informed the urban renewal agency that the firm that will build the six-story structure in Broadway East, has secured financing from an Ithaca bank for $1.8 million at 10.5 percent.

However, Hadler and DiCon Construction of Queens (which also built the Hutton Nursing Home on Washington Avenue) have still not agreed on final terms. If they can't reach agreement, under the terms of their preliminary agreement, according to Connors, Hadler gets possession of some $60,000 in construction plans and can hire another builder.

July 31 is the deadline for final agreement between Hadler and DiCon.

State Police Seek Rapist

ROSENDALE State police are looking for an unidentified man who reportedly broke into a Town of Rosendale house Thursday night and raped a woman at knifepoint.

The 30-year-old woman, not identified by police, was not seriously injured, said police. The 11 p.m. incident allegedly involved an "unknown white male," with no description furnished.

An 18-year-old Tillson youth, Michael Ploennings of Box 12A, is awaiting a July 25 court appearance in the Ulster County Jail after his Thursday arrest on charges of criminal trespass and harassment after allegedly threatening to kill a 13-year-old girl.

According to the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, Ploennings entered the Tillson Road home of Mrs. Joan Playford at about 11 p.m., Wednesday. When her daughter attempted to telephone police, the intruder allegedly threatened to kill the girl. Ploennings was arrested on a warrant in Rosendale. Arraigned before Justice Albert Morelli, the teenager was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $450 bail.

Another county teenager, 16-year-old Paul Hamilton of Lucas Avenue Extension, Hurley is in jail on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, refusal to comply with a police order, driving without a license, and misdemeanor possession of marijuana after his arrest at midnight, Thursday for allegedly taking a car from Grimaldi Buick in Kingston.

The arrest on Route 28 was made by Shandaken police, who turned Hamilton over to sheriff's deputies. Arraigned before Shandaken Justice Richard Murphy, he was placed in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail for court reappearance Aug. 26.

A stuck accelerator pedal sent a car driven by Ruth Marvin of Bearsville careening through the parking lot at Deanie's Restaurant Wednesday night, resulting in dents and scrapes to seven parked cars.

The step-mother of actor Lee Marvin was not injured. No summonses were issued. Police said later the difficulty could have been avoided by turning off the car's ignition.

FLUORIDATION

President Ford signed a Safe Drinking Water Act on December 16, 1974 — which law prohibits any substance being placed in the water for preventive health care which does not relate to water purification.

Fluoridation was conceived in June of 1951 in deceit and dishonesty, with a lack of knowledge of toxicity, with plans to intimidate, ridicule and punish opponents in professional groups, and th collecting of dossiers on important opponents. Any adverse reaction to fluoridation was to be ignored, knocked down and kept from the public knowledge in order that the people would not have a chance to discuss such information. Keep the public ignorant, in other words.

Approximately 50 to 56 Dentists, 1 from each state, attended this secret meeting. Dr. Ast was there. The meeting was headed by Dr. John W. Knutson, a dentist. We have enough proof that the above plans of reprisals have been carried out. No medical man was present at the meeting.

In closing, America must not become a nation of cripples. As Abraham Lincoln once said, "Tell the people the truth, and the people will save the nation."

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

Pierre Augustin Caron de Beaumarchais:

"All sensible people in England are convinced that the English colonies are lost to the mother country, and this is my opinion, too."

—By Ross Mackenzie & Jeff MacNelly/©1975, United Feature Syndicate.

Shortchanged

The loss of sufficient additional aid to education for local school districts may well be bemoaned by area school administrators and taxpayers. While area legislators painted a rosy future for our schools predicting as much as $3 million in additional school aid, the final package passed by those stalwarts in Albany came up a puny $1.4 million earmarked for here. That this is insufficient when the rate of inflation has been growing at 10 percent a year is obvious, and we now face a curtailment of services and a freeze on faculty, not to mention the real threat of increased school taxes. Three local school districts — Saugerties, Ellenville and Marlboro — were granted larger increases, but the rest of Ulster County was left out in the cold. Why did it happen?

The whole school aid package was pegged to increased aid for debt-ridden New York City, the feeling being that if New York was to be granted additional taxing powers to pull itself out of its own mess, then increases in educational funds for upstate would also be granted. Sounded like a good bit of horse trading but it didn't work out that way. New York City was granted its additional taxing powers to the tune of $330 million, but school aid was parceled out on the old and outmoded formula that failed to take into consideration rising costs. Therefore those school districts, generally in large metropolitan areas, that had, got, while the rest of us were stuck with the leavings. The learned legislators term this action as "holding harmless". If this is an indication of the leaning of Governor Carey, then upstaters are in for a long, lean four years. It is imperative that our area legislators impress upon the governor that persons living outside the metropolitan areas are not necessarily disenfranchised and don't appreciate being short-changed.

Berry's World

"Your batting and fielding are coming along good. Now, let's work on your arrogance!"

By JACK ANDERSON With Les Whitten

Washington—The Central Intelligence Agency has compiled a disturbing psychological profile of the shah of Iran, whom the United States is building up to be the guardian of its interests in the Persian Gulf.

This secret study portrays the shah as a brilliant but dangerous megalomaniac, who is likely to pursue his own aims in disregard of U. S. interest.

Already, he has pushed harder than any other oil potentate for stratospheric oil prices. Yet Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has overlooked the economic damage this has caused and has courted him obsequiously.

With huge arms shipments and technical aid, the United States is helping the shah transform Iran into a world power. The purpose is to assure that the fabulous oil fields of the Persian Gulf remain under friendly domination.

Yet the psychological study suggests that the shah is an uncertain ally. His dreams of glory, apparently, exceed his ability to finance them. When his oil revenues run out, in an estimated two decades, he might use his news military power to seize some neighboring fields.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

The Shah's Personality Problem

"We're sinking! Lighten the load!"

All of this is strongly implied in the CIA profile, which traces the shah's psychological problems to three sources: 1. an overbearing father; 2. the humiliation of serving at first as a puppet ruler; and 3. his inability for years to produce a male heir to the Peacock Throne.

The shah's father, Reza Shah, began his career as an illiterate soldier and battered his way to the throne. Possessed of an explosive Cossack temperament, he was known to slay dogs that dared bark in his presence, to hurl offending subordinates bodily through windows and to string up enemies by their heels and kick in their teeth.

He had little patience with his son, a sickly lad given to daydreaming. One time, the old man came upon the boy standing beside a palace pool. The father asked the boy what he was doing, "Thinking," replied Shah Jr.—whereupon the senior shah uttered a roaring curse and booted his heir into the pool.

In contrast, a twin sister, Princess Ashraf, is a forceful, aggressive, vivacious woman quick to slap the face of anyone who displeases her. "It's too bad she was not the boy," the old shah used to muse.

During World War II, the elder shah demonstrated an unfortunate preference for the Nazis. This encouraged the British and Russians to occupy Iran in 1941. They deposed Reza Shah and deposited his 21-year-old son on the throne.

For the next 12 years, the young shah was no more than a figurehead. His ministers, fearing permanent occupation by the British and Russians, invited in the Americans. U.S. officials temporarily ran the country while the shah spent his days riding horses, flying planes, speeding around in fast cars and chasing women.

But on the throne, he was a weak, retiring personality. When his appendix was removed in the early 1950s, Westerners in Tehran joked that "now the shah has no guts at all."

The shah, according to the CIA profile, never got over his lack of royal lineage and the ignominy of being a puppet monarch. His resentment toward the West gradually hardened into a bitter determination to "show them."

But he was still a weakling in the early 1950s as Premier Mohammed Mossadeq grew in power and began leading Iran on a leftward course. The shah ducked out on the showdown and chartered a plane for Rome. While he was safely ensconced in the Excelsior Hotel, the CIA rescued his throne.

The news was brought to him, according to an eyewitness account, while he was dining at the Excelsior. The shah turned pale and looked as if he would faint. "In that case," he finally murmured, "the empress and I will go home as quickly as possible." He returned 12 pounds lighter, with prematurely gray hair.

Another problem that plagued the shah for two decades was his failure to produce a son. His first marriage, to Princess Fawzia, sister of Egypt's King Farouk, was unhappy. Born into luxury, she became bored with the provincial city of Tehran and longed for the swinging social soires of Cairo.

When no son was born, according to the CIA profile, Fawzia ridiculed and humiliated the shah by accusing him of impotence. He divorced her in 1948, after nine years of marriage.

Queen Soraya, wife No. 2, tried for seven years to produce an heir for the shah. The couple finally checked into New York's Presbyterian Medical Center for examination. They were pronounced healthy. Still no son came. In 1958, they were divorced.

The shah's long search for a son ended after he married Farah Diba, daughter of a wealthy Iranian. She gave him an heir, Crown Prince Reza.

CIA psychologists believe that all these elements—his cruel father, his years as a pawn of the West, his undistinguished lineage, his fear of impotence—contributed to an enormous inferiority complex.

Now this insecure man, showered with oil billions and bolstered by the United States, is determined to show the world, the psychologists suggest.

Sargent Shriver Setting Up a Run

By Rowland Evans

and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON —

Although still denying he has decided to run for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sargent Shriver has actually signed up his first major campaign operative: Manhattan lawyer and former Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance.

Shriver's greatest worry is that his candidacy, now tentatively set for announcement by Labor Day, won't be taken seriously by party leaders. To minimize that wholly realistic fear, he will not announce until he has stockpiled a complete campaign organization from fund-raising to media.

Vance, a one-time protege of former President Lyndon Johnson, has privately agreed to become a top-level legal and financial campaign aide whose first assignment will be to make the Kennedys' brother-in-law and 1972 Democratic vice presidential nominee legally eligible for matching federal campaign funds at the earliest possible date.

The eligibility formula in the new campaign-finance law is $5,000 in each of 20 states, in individual contributions of no more $250 each. Four Democratic contenders have now passed that test.

Shriver last week also asked Minneapolis economist Walter Heller, President Kennedy's top economic adviser, to take command of his economic planning for the coming presidential campaign, with special attention on new ways to raise investment capital for American business. Heller, a full-time economics professor at the University of Minnesota, may say no on grounds he does not have that much time to give to politics.

In casting about for an economic adviser, Shriver has stressed this paramount objective: to avoid getting caught in the mishmash of confusing, populist economic programs which cost Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota much of his credibility as Democratic presidential nominee in 1972.

In addition to Vance and Heller, Shriver has had long political and economic talks the past six weeks with many other possible recruits, including Richard Nixon's 1972 ecoomic spokesman and adviser Pierre Rinfret, an unconventional and highly-regarded private economic consultant in New York. Rinfret has no present plans to work in Shriver's campaign.

The reality of a Shriver presidential campaign took root after he and his wife, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, got a green light from the head of the Kennedy family, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The green light meant that Kennedy, despite contrary views widely held throughout the party, has no intention of breaking his "no-draft" pledge, no matter what happens at the Democratic national convention next summer.

Intimates of both Kennedy and Shriver say the Senator will be strictly neutral about Shriver's campaign.

Shriver's real concern is to avoid being dismissed by party leaders as a lightweight whose first venture into elective politics came when McGovern picked him to fill the vice presidential vacancy in 1972 after half a dozen earlier choices turned McGovern down.

A footnote: some party leaders tell us that Shriver's chief asset in a burgeoning Democratic field without any stars is the fact that he has never held public office and is not perceived by voters as a "politician" — an opprobrious word in post-Watergate America.

HAERLE'S RENEGE

The fury within Ronald Reagan's inner circle over Paul Haerle's decision to be co-chairman of Gerald Ford's presidential campaign in California goes back to a private little chat between Haerle, now Republican party chairman in California, Reagan and top Reagan operative Mike Deaver, in early 1973.

Haerle wanted the post of party vice-chairman, and he went to Reagan to ask the then-governor's help. Reagan gave it "unconditionally," with no questions asked.

But Deaver, sitting in the governor's office with Reagan and Haerle, pointedly told Haerle that if Reagan ever ran for any elective office in the future he hoped that Haerle would support him. There was only one conceivable office that would have interested Reagan, who was then starting his seventh year as governor, and that was the presidency.

Haerle's reply to Deaver was: "Absolutely." But a little more than two years later, now ensconced as party chairman, Haerle agreed to take a top spot in the Ford campaign despite the possibility that Reagan may run against the President for the Republican nomination.

Footnote: An effort planned by Reagan loyalists to discipline Haerle at last weekend's meeting of the Republican state executive committee fell flat. As state chairman, Haerle himself has appointed a majority of the executive committee, giving him majority control.

A Quiz for the 19th Hole

Hello, you hacker. It's time for Bishop's Annual Golf Quiz. The answers are at the bottom of this column. Don't look. Don't peek. Score four points for each correct response. Eight is a good score; 12 is incredible.

1. The Professional Golfers' Association Vardon Trophy is given to the golfer who averages the lowest score for 80 or more rounds. Who has the all-time low record?
2. Which touring pro won the most consecutive tournaments?
3. Which golfer finished a tournament with the biggest lead?
4. Who was the youngest winner of a "Big 4" tournament?
5. Who won the most tournaments in a lifetime?
6. Which golfer had the most successive birdies in tournament play?
7. Who has the lowest score for four rounds of play on a championship course?
8. What great golfer has never won the U.S. Open?
9. What is considered to be the rarest shot in golf?
10. In 1940, Ben Hogan topped the pro circuit in winnings. How much did he get?
11. Where is the longest hole?
12. Name the pro with the lowest score for nine holes.
13. What PGA player scored highest for a single hole?
14. Is there a woman who holds the record for high score on one hole of golf?

15. Who has the record for playing golf until exhausted?
16. Name the player who hit the longest tee shot.
17. The shortest.
18. In the U.S., is there one course more difficult than all others?
19. What country club is acknowledged to be the most elaborate in the world?
20. Which pro carded the lowest 18-hole score on a full-length course?
21. Who won the most tournaments in one season?
22. Paul Runyon led all golfers in earnings in 1934, when he collected $6,767. Name the golfer who won the most money in a year.
23. Which pro has the lowest average score over a period of years?
24. Who is the unknown who achieved the "impossible" in golf — two consecutive holes in one?
25. What was the age of the youngest golfer to get a hole in one?
1. Sam Snead, 1950; average per round 69.23 strokes. 2. Byron Nelson won 11 in 1945. 3. Ben Hogan, the 1945 Portland Open by 15 strokes. 4. Gene Sarazen, 1922 U.S. Open, age 20. 5. Sam Snead, 84; Ben Hogan is second with 62. 6. Bob Goalby with eight in the 1961 St. Petersburg Open. 7. Mike Souchak in the 1955 Texas Open scored 60-68-64-54, total 257.
8. Sam Snead. He tied with Lew Worsham in 1947, lost by a stroke in the playoff. 9. It isn't a hole in one; it's a double eagle, as a two on a par five. 10. $10,655. 11. The 17th at Black Mountain G.C., North Carolina, 745 yards, par six. 12. Bill Burke,

- playing Normandie in St. Louis, carded the back nine in 25 (4,3,3,2,3,3,1,4,2), May 20th, 1970.
13. Ray Ainsley, playing a par four in the 1938 U.S. Open at Denver, required 19 blows. 14. Yes. An anonymous woman playing the Shawnee Women's Invitational in 1912 chased her ball downstream in a rowboat, beached it 1½ miles away, flogged at it 166 times before holing out.
15. Edward Ferguson of Detroit played 64 rounds of golf in six-and-a-half days in 1930. 16. At sea level on flat ground, Tommie Campbell of the Irish PGA hit a ball 392 yards in Dublin in 1964. The U.S. record is 341 yards, by Jack Nicklaus in a 1963 driving contest.
17. Jim Bishop in the 5th at Aventura, Florida, swung a driver; the ball fell forward off the tee. 18. Yes. Pine Valley, N.J., which also has the biggest trap — Hell's Half Acre — on its 7th hole. 19. Eldorado Golf Club in California, which has 15 courses. 20. Sam Snead fired a 59 in the 1959 Greenbrier Open in West Virginia.
21. Byron Nelson entered 31 tournaments in 1945, won 19. 22. Johnny Miller won $353,021.59 in 1974. 23. Billy Casper with an average of 70.25 strokes over five years.
24. Norman Manley of De Calle C.C., Saugus, California, sunk two successive aces on par 4s on Sept. 2, 1964. 25. Joe Dobson, age 6 years, 3 months, hit a golf ball with a mid iron at Enid, Oklahoma and watched it fall into the cup 155 yards away.

It's like love, fellow hackers. Reading about it will do you no damned good . . .

Annual Teacher
Recognition Dinner

The annual teacher recognition dinner of the Anna Devine
School was held recently at the Dolphin Inn in Port Ewen.

This event is sponsored annually by the Auxiliary to show appreciation to the teachers and staff of the school. Each teacher was presented with a special award as a memento of the event.

Some 60 teachers and parents attended.

Coordinators were Fannie Munson and Marge Severson while the special awards program was prepared by Irene Parodi and Lynn Chilcott.

Included in the cast of
"Blithe Spirit" are Myra
Carter (L), Etain O'Malley and Robert Denison, all part of a seance during the vehicle at the Woodstock Playhouse. Noel Coward's comedy of the occult will have performances through Saturday night at 8:30 and the final day Sunday, curtain time at 7 p.m. A Saturday matinee at 2:30 also will be offered. Reservations may be obtained by calling the Playhouse.

Woodstock Playhouse Production
'Blithe Spirit' . . . Light, Summer Fun

By Tobie Geertsema

WOODSTOCK

It is reassuring in today's troubled times to be reminded that some things never change. One thing that does not is the cult of fashionable sophistication that still gleams brightly in the comedy of Noel Coward. Intelligent, full of ideas and knowledgeable about his trade, Coward's formulas work as well today as they did decades ago.

The current production of his "Blithe Spirit" at the Woodstock Playhouse remains as ingenious, original, and genuinely amusing as when we first saw it many years ago. There is uncommon craftsmanship in the direction of Ronald Roston, who has obviously viewed Coward's drawing room comedy with a hospitable eye — and has presented it frankly for what it is. And it is still a very funny play when honestly produced and honestly played;
still witty enough to fling its share of laughs at an audience.

As ingenious, original, and genuinely amusing as when it was first produced.

The boisterous mixups in "Blithe Spirit" are well-tuned to light summer fun. The play pivots humor-ously upon the problems of Charles Condomine, an author who has remarried after the death of his first wife, a flirtatious beauty who "laughed herself to death over a BBC program" while recuperating from pneumonia, caught during an alliance while out boating with another man. When Charles invites a psychic (a fey medium named Madame Arcati) to conduct a seance as part of the research he's doing for a book on the occult, she converts him from skeptical to believer when the ghost of his first wife, Elvira, reappears as a permanent fixture around the house after having been summoned from a backgammon game she was playing with Genghis Khan.

Needless to say, second wife Ruth is not overjoyed that Charles is now an "astro-bigamist," insists that the ghost of Elvira be dematerialized. But,
before the cream of Coward's jest has run its course,
Ruth herself makes a ghostly appearance.

If Charles had found in one ghostly ex-wife an intriguing and somewhat flattering situation, the prospect of living with the spirits of two former mates is more than mortal man can take. Says a surlly Charles to his bickering one-time brides,

"Why don't you two take a cottage somewhere?"

The cast assembled by director Roston for this Playhouse production is a particularly attractive one. The five actresses and two actors involved all bring a zestful sense of humor to their roles. With fidelity and facility, Robert Denison delivers a perfect performance as the harried Charles. He is vastly amusing and totally stimulating. As second wife Ruth, Etain O'Malley is a superb technician
— superb because you never notice her technique.
So natural and effortless is her performance that she doesn't appear to be acting at all — and acting natural is even more difficult onstage than it is for the rest of us off.

Proves once again that Noel Coward has an unerring eye for the wryly amusing incongruities of life.

Given the opportunity to steal many of the scenes, Lynda Myles (as Elvira) deserves praise for never attempting to overpower her fellow actors. When others speak she looks at and listens to them attentively. And her fellow performers are worth listening to, for director Roston has drawn admirably forthright performances from them. Sara Mulligan knows who she is, what she is and where she is going as Mrs. Bradman, the doctor's wife who drops in for the seance and a subsequent visit. Myra Carter as the totally nutty Madame Arcati is thoroughly ingratiating. David O. Petersen returns to the Playhouse stage from the recent production of "The Sunshine Boys" to handle with quiet competence the role of Dr. Bradman. And Marcia Savella is a laugh-provoking delight as Edith, the Condomine maid of all trades, including the most unusual one of summoning up ghosts at will.

Overall, "Blithe Spirit" proves once again that Noel Coward has an unerring eye for the wryly amusing incongruities of life and for the foibles of humanity. This is a play to make an audience laugh
— and the audience is laughing at the Woodstock Playhouse these July nights. That is more than enough for any theatre-goer who plans to see it between now and July 13.

Guttman Exhibit
At Paltz
Sunday

A special exhibit and lecture by John B. Guttman, New Paltz artist, will be held Sunday afternoon at State University College, New Paltz. Guttman, a long time resident of New Paltz and a retired New York designer and art director, will display and discuss some 26 new works he created during the last three years. Sunday's exhibit will be held at the Lecture Center Building, Room 112, from 1 to 3 p.m. A discussion of his works will get underway after the exhibit. The exhibit and lecture are open to the public without charge.

Wife Rations Love And He's Starved

DEAR ABBY: After 26 years of a fairly good marriage with three self-sufficient children and a paid-for home, my wife and I sleep back to back — like two fireplace logs.

She rations her love as a "reward" for favors and withholds it as "punishment." And when it's given, which is seldom, it's with very little enthusiasm (an understatement).

After nearly a year of this treatment, I'm considering breaking my flawless record of a faithful marriage to seek attention elsewhere.

I don't see much difference between a wife who trades her love for personal gain and a lady of the evening who sells

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

her favors for money. I consider myself a darn good husband. Time is running out.

DISGUSTED: You're confusing sex with love. Love is a gift, not an obligation. Sex can be obtained at a price. Love cannot.

If you haven't discussed the state of your marriage with your wife, it's time you did. If you both want a better marriage, I recommend counseling. But if you're asking me for the green light to pursue the red light, I'm negative.

DEAR ABBY: I have written a letter to a very dear friend of mine, and my problem is I haven't the courage to send it. If you publish it, I am sure my friend will see it. Here it is:

My dear, dear friend: How else can I say it? You make me sick! No matter how I try to avoid the smoke of your cigarette, it's there, irritating my eyes, my sinuses, and getting into my lungs.

After a few hours with you, I'm literally ill. Sometimes when you blow your smoke directly at me, I turn my head or try to "fan" it away with my hand. You offer a small apology and move your cigarette — but you never put it out!

Of course, my problem is that I am a coward. I like you too much to tell you to your face that you are selfish. I don't want to hurt your feelings, yet you go on hurting mine.

Do you know that your breath is always bad? And no amount of perfume can mask the smell of stale smoke that's constantly on your hands, clothing and hair.

I love your company. Your sense of humor is priceless, and you've demonstrated your friendship to me many times. Yet, my doctor has told me I must avoid you. Can you believe it? Your smoking is making me ill. I miss you.

"SMOKED OUT"
DEAR ABBY: We recently received an invitation to a golden wedding celebration. At the bottom was printed: "Your presence — no presents — is requested."

Wasn't that a lovely way to say, "No gifts, please?"

MRS. J.G.
DEAR MRS. G.: Yes. Thanks for sharing.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

D & H Canal Sesqui-centennial

Thousands are expected to gather in Wurtsboro Sunday to mark the sesqui-centennial of the 1825 ground-breaking for the Delaware & Hudson Canal. The "ditch" is long gone, having ceased operation in 1899, but for canal and history buffs the occasion will be a festive and happy one as they reach back into the 19th Century to recapture the spirit and reflect the glory of canal days.

A parade beginning at noon, craft displays, canal art, boat models and related matter, and addresses by local and visiting dignitaries have been scheduled.

Descendants of the Wurts family, prime movers in the financing and construction of the D & H, to carry coal from Honesdale to tidewater at Kingston, will be on hand to assist in marking the anniversary. Wurtsboro, originally called Rome, was re-named to honor the canal builders.

During the formal ceremonies, a 24-star flag of 1813 will fly over the assemblage for a time, to be lowered and replaced by the raising of the present 50 star Old Glory.

Stone House

Day in Hurley

Opening ceremonies for Stone House Day in Hurley on Saturday, July 12, will be held in front of the Hurley Reformed Church at 10:30 a.m.

The Country Fair will get underway at 10 a.m. and the house tours at 11 a.m.

Operating during the day will be an antique show sponsored by the Hurley Library Association as well as a book sale at the library.

Another feature will be the Crosswinds, performing folk dances and entertaining with a puppet show.

Reunion to Honor Former Principal

The Class of 1946 from High Falls School will hold a special reunion to honor Mrs. Bernice Jansen who served as their teacher and principal. The reunion is planned for Saturday, Aug. 9, at 1 p.m. at Sunrise Hillcrest Lodge, Mountain Road, Rosendale.

To make this a special occasion for Mrs. Jansen, who will fly here from Florida, the class is inviting all her friends and former students.

An afternoon picnic is planned, with swimming and games for the children. Food and beverages will be provided by the Lodge.

Reservations should be made by July 15 with Marge Dalton, Marie Brown, or Dick Davenport all of High Falls; George Campbell, Richmond Mass.

WAA Benefit Saturday

A good time should be had by all who attend the Woodstock Artists Association's fund-raising chicken barbecue on Saturday, July 12, at the Jane Burr House in Woodstock.

And for those who will be on hand for this event, their presence will not only assist the treasury to provide improved artist housing and studio space at the Burr House facilities, but could result in their becoming owners of three valuable art works — an Angeloch print, an Arnold Blanch drawing or a Gurdon Howe watercolor.

Saturday's fund-raising event will get underway at 5 o'clock and the program will include good food, beverages and music by the Marc Black Trio as well as the possibility of winning one of the art works.

The three art works are now on display at the WAA. Ticket and other information concerning Saturday's barbecue may be obtained by calling the WAA, 28 Tinker Street.

Sculpture, Ceramic, Construction Show

Woodstock Artists Association will present a Sculpture, Ceramic, and Construction show this Saturday. It will be a juried show by three persons, selected from an available panel of 12 local artists. The three jurors at each show are anonymous.

There will be an opening party from 4 to 5 p.m. All are invited.

County Volunteer Fire Auxiliary Officers Installed

The fifth anniversary of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Auxiliary was celebrated recently at the Centerville Firehouse at which time the installation of officers also took place.

Mrs. Ethel Dahl of Rockland County was the installing officer for the slate including:

Catherine Dittus, Rapid Hose Auxiliary, president, Rose Meiswinkle, Saugerties Auxiliary, secretary and Barbara Brennen, Centerville Auxiliary, treasurer.

Directors include:

Christina Wilson, Connelly Auxiliary, three years; Irene Reis, A.H. Wicks Auxiliary, two years and Elenor Burger, Kerhonkson Auxiliary, one year.

Elenor Hinkel of Saxton Auxiliary and Corinne Mower, Wallkill Auxiliary, were installed as chaplains.

In the past five years the Ulster County Auxiliary has doubled its affiliate membership to 20 and its individual membership to 65.

The Auxiliary meets four times a year. September, January, March. A spokesperson of the Auxiliary, commenting on the growth of the organization said:

"Growing has shared a common interest and mutual concern for firematics with a formation of a coordinated network of auxiliaries from north to south and east to west in Ulster County."

Recently installed officers of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Auxiliary include Catherine Dittus (L), president; Irene Reis, past president; Ethel Dahl, installing officer; Mary Van Kleek, past president and Barbara Brennen, treasurer, who has held that post for five years. # Cary Arboretum Develops Long-Range Land Use Master Plan

MILLBROOK
Millbrook's Cary Arboretum — a division of the New York Botanical Garden — has developed a long-range master plan that will guide the future use of its 2,000-acre land tract in Dutchess County.

The land use plan calls for the use of about one-third of the arboretum property for a scientific collection of trees, shrubs and woody plants. Almost two-thirds of the property — between 1,200 and 1,300 acres — will be left in its natural woodland state.

The plan also calls for the use of a small area of land, as well as a number of buildings already existing on the site, for education purposes and public displays.

The arboretum, in its fourth year, already has greenhouses and plant nurseries, an internal road system and has conducted extensive educational, environmental, scientific and public information programs. Earlier this year, ground was broken for a solar-heated administration and research building.

The major aspect of the arboretum's land use plan is establishment of the plant collection, which will serve as a "gene pool" to provide and preserve materials for the facility's research projects.

Among research studies already undertaken by the Arboretum staff are improvement of street trees in urban environments, development of a disease-resistant variety of American elm, a study of how trees receive their nutrients from the soil, the interaction of insects and flowering plants and attempts to determine if wood can be pulped by biologic rather than chemical means.

An arboretum spokesman said that special efforts will be made to preserve native species that presently occur on the arboretum grounds in habitats that will ensure their long-term survival. In addition, the facility intends to acquire, preserve, increase and disseminate rare and endangered plant species. The arboretum will also attempt to collect species from as many points throughout their range as seems practical, in order to test how flexible certain species are and how they adapt to types of climate and soil where they don't normally grow at present.

The collections, it was emphasized, will not infringe upon existing unique vegetation types. The collection areas will be fenced, where necessary, to protect young plants from deer and other hazards, but wide corridors will be left open between fenced enclosures to permit deer to travel back and forth.

Between 550 and 600 acres of the 2,000-acre arboretum tract will be used for plant collection purposes. Another 1,300 acres will be allowed to remain in its natural state. The remaining property will be devoted to educational purposes. The Arboretum hopes to complete its new education center by next winter, and the visitors' center by 1978. The solar heated administration building should be ready for occupancy in 1977.

Democrat Receives Conservative Nod

HURLEY
With one eight of their 187 enrollees attending, District Five Conservatives met last week and endorsed two incumbent Republicans and a Democrat for election this fall.

Getting the nod from District Five which includes the town of Hurley, Ulster and Olive were Ernest Gardner (majority leader of the county legislature) and Lewis Hall.

Louis Conti, a Democrat in his first run for elected office, was also endorsed.

The party left two blanks, by-passing two legislators they had endorsed last year, Lester C. Elmendorf and Stephen G. Hyatt. Richard Nace is also a candidate in that district. All three are Republicans.

Roger Dell, Ulster town Conservative chairman, suggested that the "internal problems" of the Town of Ulster government were key factors in the party's apparent move against Republicans in the town, their traditional allies. "The people at the convention took a very careful look at internal problems in the town of Ulster government," Dell said. An investigation is continuing into alleged misdeeds in the Town of Ulster highway department.

Dell said that all five Republican nominees attended the July 2 convention at the home of Hurley town chairman Arthur Bowen. Conti was the only Democrat to attend. "Anyone who was interested (in getting the Conservative nomination) was invited," Dell said.

As for the turnout which saw less than five percent of the party enrollees respond, Dell said, "It was about typical. We mailed letters to each member," he said.

Dell suggested that the news media had something to do with the fact that 179 out of 187 enrolled Conservatives did not attend their own nominating convention. "Maybe they're discouraged by all the bad news they get from the media," he said. "Maybe they figure it's useless."

"If they have bad government, it's their own fault," he concluded.

Schuler Denies Area Bus Hikes

ALBANY
State Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler today turned down proposals by two intercity bus companies to boost fares within New York State by 15 percent and ordered a formal investigation with public hearings.

The two companies — Adirondack Transit Lines Inc. and Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corporation — had sought to make the increases effective on Monday, July 14.

"The financial data submitted in justification of the proposed fare schedules is inadequate," Schuler declared, "and we cannot require the public to pay more for intercity bus service until the carriers' claimed revenue needs have been thoroughly investigated and confirmed."

Citing the need to hold the line on public transportation fares in order to attract patrons, the commissioner noted that "all public transportation operators must make a concerted effort to offset rising costs with increased operating efficiencies."

As a result of today's action, both companies have been ordered to suspend the implementation of the proposed fare increases. Public hearings will be scheduled to receive evidence and testimony from members of the public, company representatives and transportation department staff personnel. The time and place of the hearings will be announced shortly.

Adirondack Transit operates numerous intrastate routes in the eastern portion of the state extending from New York City in the south to Massena in the north.

Pine Hill-Kingston operates a route between Kingston and Utica via Cooperstown. Pine Hill is an Adirondack Transit affiliate.

Seniors Exempted

ALBANY
Senior citizens, 62, years or older will be exempt from cash deposits required by local utilities under a bill co-sponsored by Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey (D-101st Dist.) and signed into law recently by Gov. Carey.

The bill, effective Sept. 1, forbids the requirement of deposits for the elderly unless proof can be shown that the subscriber is a bad credit risk. And the burden of proof will be on the utilities.

In the Kingston area the new law could mean a saving of about $100 for senior citizens. The law also requires the PSC to establish regulations effecting a refund of any deposits so withheld from qualified subscribers. Central Hudson officials told the Freeman they require a deposit equal to the average two-month bill at a given location while New York Telephone requires a $45 deposit for installation of a residential telephone.

"There are many elderly persons who can make good use of the money that they would otherwise have tied up as deposits with the utility companies," Hinchey said, noting that Ulster County's senior citizen population is in excess of 30,000 persons.

He said the companies should be required to prove the deposits are necessary

McGinnis Likes Philly's $

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers won't say exactly how much they are paying George McGinnis, but the National Basketball Association team admits that next season "we'll have to sell a lot more tickets."

Sixers' General Manager Pat Williams calls the multi-year contract McGinnis signed with the club Thursday for a reported $2.5 million, "one of the top number contracts in sports."

"I'm coming to Philadelphia strictly from the economic standpoint," said McGinnis, who played the past four seasons with the Indiana Pacers of the American Basketball Association and was co-winner of the league's most valuable player award last season.

"Indiana couldn't come close to matching this offer." The New York Knicks did, however, and McGinnis became a 76er only after a bitter controversy was finally resolved by NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien.

The 76ers acquired NBA rights to McGinnis, a native of Indianapolis, when they drafted him on the second round in 1973. He had left the University of Indiana as a sophomore in 1971 to begin his pro career in the ABA.

Earlier this year the Knicks signed McGinnis, considered one of the best forwards in basketball, for a reported $500,000.

But the contract was invalidated by O'Brien on the grounds it violated NBA rules. McGinnis then suggested he would be willing to play in Philadelphia if the price were right.

"Being from Indiana," McGinnis said, "I'm not used to big cities. I don't like them. I didn't like New York, even though I signed with them."

"I feel we did everything humanly possible to keep George," said Bill Eason, who owns 50 per cent of the Pacers and is the club's chairman of the board. "We feel we've done everything we possibly could short of financial suicide."

"Our major problem is to maintain a viable franchise and not go bankrupt."

"I admit the team (76ers) has been in the red the past few years," said Irv Kosloff owner of the 76ers who also recently signed high school star Darryl Dawkins to a six-figure contract. "Having George McGinnis playing for us is a step in the right direction to getting in the black."

"This team can show a profit next season even with all the large contracts. We'll have to sell a lot more tickets, but we now have the team to do it."

SPORTS TODAY

Miller Rides Hot Putter To British Open Lead

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (UPI) — Johnny Miller overcame an erratic putter today with birdies on five of the first nine holes and took the early lead after 45 holes of the 104th British Open golf championship.

The 28-year-old Californian, number two money-winner on this year's U.S. tour, began his assault on a sunbathed 7,065-yard, par 72 Carnoustie course with a 15-foot birdie putt at the first hole. He never looked back.

Five strokes off Scotsman David Huish's overnight pace when the day began, Miller shot to nine under par for 45 holes by reeling off more birdies at two, five, six and seven—the last with a dazzling 25-foot putt from off the edge of the green.

He had a five-under-par 31 for the front nine to go with his 36-hole total of 140.

Miller's performance was an almost complete reversal of putting form from his earlier rounds when his putter was more an enemy than friend. At one point Wednesday he missed shot from just 18 inches.

Huish, the halfway leader, bogeyed the third hole and appeared to open the door to his challengers for the title in this oldest of golf classics.

For the first time this week sun burst through over Carnoustie and blanketed the seaside links with conditions ripe for sub-par scoring in the fight for $165,000 prize money.

The 31-year-old Scots club pro who led a trimmed field of 86 golfers into today's third round reckoned that all he could do was his best.

The bookies bet 20-1 it wouldn't be enough. "I'm just looking to put up a good show," Huish said Thursday at the biggest news conference of his life. "If I keep playing the way I'm playing, I'll be quite content, regardless of where I finish."

"If you're not good enough, you're not good enough. And if you're good enough on four rounds, fair enough."

With the likes of Tom Watson, Peter Oosterhuis, Hale Irwin, Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller within five strokes of his eight-under-par 69-67-136, Huish added that he wasn't nervous even if he does lead the rush on Ben Hogan's course record of 282.

That was a day ago. Perhaps, he said, things will be different when the 104th Open came to what Irwin described as the point where "we start seeing who can swallow and who can't. It becomes a little tighter..."

"The choking point, to put it mildly."

Huish is the pro down the road at North Berwick—"I teach and watch the shop"—and he had to birdie two straight holes—the second in a playoff—to even make the 153-man field for this richest of British Opens at $165,000.

But he had won $6,600 in some local tournaments and knew his game was taking shape. He has never played on the U.S. tour and has no desire to. For one thing, he hates to fly. For another, he doesn't want to owe sponsors anything.

Besides, home is Berwick where the wife and two young ones are.

For a man who started his career as a 15-year-old assistant pro selling golf balls at the counter, the 6-foot-2 local hero had some 20,000 Scots spectators cheering him on with some dazzling iron play Wednesday.

Time and again, he knocked approaches and chips to the pin for birdies and to save pars. He came in with fours on all three par five holes, nothing uncommon on a day when the 7,065-yard Carnoustie course succumbed to par-smashing suitors.

He slammed a three wood to within 15 feet on the 235-yard, par-3 16th hole, one of the toughest in golf, and ran the putt over a hump to cap his seven-birdie run.

But South African Bobby Cole came in with the day's lowest round—a six-under 66—to break the course record of 68 set in 1953 by Ben Hogan and equaled in 1968 by Billy Casper and again Wednesday by Oosterhuis.

Oosterhuis, the big Briton, blew himself out of the lead with four bogeys in the last five holes as rain squalls and a Scottish mist descended on the gorth seacoast course.

But he was in a group of four, including Watson, two strokes off the pace. Five players, among them Irwin, are back one more stroke, with Nicklaus and Miller leading the four at 140.

Britain's intrepid bookies took only slight note of Huish in setting their overnight odds. They put Nicklaus and Oosterhuis at 3-1, Miller and Irwin at 7-1 and Huish at a distant 20-1.

Hogan's 72-hole course record, a 22-year-old 282, appeared in shaky doubt unless someone rouses the stiff winds that usually ransack this course but have lain dormant this week.

Huish is one of a number of Scotsmen who have led this tournament at one time or another. But only one resident, Willie Auchterlonie, has won it, with a 350 in 1893.

Forbes' Trial Is Underway

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — For the first time since professional hockey came to the U.S., details of a mid-game fight are being aired for the public and a U.S. District Court jury.

Dave Forbes of the Boston Bruins is on trial in Hennepin County District Court on a charge of aggravated assault with a dangerous weapon.

The weapon allegedly was Forbes' hockey stick and the victim was reportedly Henry Boucha who played for the Minnesota North Stars at the time of the brawl, last Jan. 4.

Since then Boucha has jumped to the Minnesota Fighting Saints of the World Hockey Association.

Witnesses Thursday said there were actually two fights between Forbes and Boucha. After the first fracas, the two landed in the penalty box. Later in the game a second fight ensued.

Boucha testified that the two "had words" while they were in the penalty box.

"He (Forbes) distinctly said he was going to shove the stick down my throat," Boucha said.

In the second fight, Boucha said "he (Forbes) threw a punch with his stick in his hand and he got me above the right eye."

Boucha said it took 25 to 30 stitches to close the gash above his eyebrow and a week later he had surgery "for a blowout fracture above the right eye."

Boucha said he still has double vision when he looks at something below eye level and is being treated for it at the University of Minnesota Hospital, but "the doctors tell me it will be a matter of time before it heals."

Murray Oliver, who was playing for the North Stars at the time and now is a free agent, testified he saw Forbes throw a punch at Boucha with a stick in his hand.

"The stick became an extension of his fist and he (Forbes) hit him," Oliver said.

Oliver said he saw the stick make contact with Boucha's eye, saw blood come from the wound and saw Boucha fall.

Out of court Thursday Forbes said, "It becomes more apparent to me every day how ridiculous the whole thing is. I don't see how anyone could go out and play if this happens" (if he is convicted).

Happy Birthday

Wimbledon champ Arthur Ashe celebrates his 32nd birthday with a piece of cake and announcement of the first annual Nations Cup Tournament this autumn. The new event, devised by the Association of Tennis Professionals, is an international tourney in which the two top players of eight qualifying nations will compete. The U.S. and Australia are the first to qualify for the Sept. 29 to Oct. 5 matches to be held in Kingston, Jamaica. (UPI)

Astros Fire Richardson

HOUSTON (UPI) — H.B. Richardson, the Houston Astros' general manager for eight years, leaned way back behind his workingman's desk, doing the usual things. He twirled his glasses in his hand, pulled on a stogie and looked off in space.

He also tried hard to hold back the tears.

Criticized heavily of late by Astros' fans who never met him but who daily saw their team fall farther and farther behind the Cincinnati Reds, Richardson had just been fired.

His boss, Sidney L. Shlenker, said moments before at a hastily called news conference Thursday that his announcement was one of the most difficult of his life.

"None of us are comfortable, happy, what have you, with this decision," Shlenker said.

Richardson, 51, likewise, was careful not to criticize anyone in the organization. The only person he praised, though, in a terse statement was his friend and Astrodome founder, Judge Roy Hofheinz.

"It's been an unfortunate season," Richardson said. "If I could have put my finger on it, I would have done something about it. It's not something you can change by changing one or two positions."

But as the Astros plunged to the National League West cellar early this season and promised a 12th season without a pennant, fans recalled Houston's past trades.

The most infamous one was the 1971 swap in which Richardson sent Joe Morgan, Cesar Geronimo, Jack Billingham, Denis Menke and Ed Armbrister to Cincinnati for Lee May, Tommy Helms and Jimmy Stewart. Morgan and Geronimo start for the Reds and Billingham is a starting pitcher. Helms is the only one of the three Astros' acquisitions still on the team, and he has not played this year.

The Astros have also traded away John Mayberry, Rusty Staub and Jerry Reuss, to name a few, with Richardson calling the shots.

When asked about how he looks back at those trades,

Richardson leaned forward in his chair.

"I wasn't concerned about it then. I'm not concerned about it today," he said. "That may be the wrong outlook, but that's the one I've got. I thought I did the best for the team each time."

Asked what changes he would make in his actions during the years, Richardson replied: "Nothing."

In changing general managers little more than halfway through the 1975 season, Astros' owners appointed John W. Mullen, 50, Richardson's assistant, to assume the head job until a permanent replacement is found.

Shlenker said there would be no more changes in the organization the rest of the season, indicating that the job of Manager Preston Gomez is secure at least until October.

Richardson called Gomez shortly after the news conference to tell the manager of his firing.

Several players expressed sadness at the news, and when several members of the media told Richardson they were sincerely sorry to see him go, Richardson had to pull a handkerchief from his back pocket to dab his eyes.

"I'm sorry men," he said. Richardson said the decision had come so suddenly, he had had no time to think of the future.

Twins 'Get Well' at Shea

NEW YORK (UPI) — The most frustrating thing about the New York Yankees' aimless wanderings in the American League's Eastern Division race this season is that Jim Hunter and Bobby Bonds have pretty much lived up to their press clippings.

Hunter, obtained as a free agent for a record five-year, $2.8-million contract, has a 12-8 record while Bonds, acquired in a one-for-one trade of $100,000-a-year players which sent Bobby Murcer to the San Francisco Giants, has hit 20 homers. Both are on the American League All-Star team which will meet the National League stars next Tuesday night in Milwaukee.

Even so, the Yankees are in third place in the AL East three games behind the Boston Red Sox and in danger of being overtaken by the Baltimore Orioles.

Orioles.

It was the Minnesota Twins' turn to "get well" at the Yankees' expense Thursday night when they broke a five-game losing streak with a 6-3 triumph despite Bonds' 20th homer.

Tony Oliva had four hits, including a homer, and Glenn Borgmann knocked in two runs with a double in the second inning as the Twins' Ray Corbin went 8 1-3 innings for his fifth win. Rookie Tom Johnson retired the last two Yankees to preserve the victory.

Pat Dobson was tagged for seven hits and five runs in six innings and suffered his eighth loss against nine victories for the Yankees with Sparky Lyle finishing up.

Reds and Bucs Running Away With National League Races

By UPI

The Cincinnati Reds are "long gone" in the National League's Western Division race and the Pittsburgh Pirates aren't far behind that situation in the Eastern Division.

The Pirates benefitted both themselves and the Reds Thursday night when they defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 as Willie Stargell drove in three runs with a single and the 361st homer of his career.

The victory moved the Pirates six games ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies in the East and also enabled the idle Reds to open up a 10-game gap over the Dodgers in the West.

The National League is now faced with the most lop-sided races since the divisional system was inaugurated in 1969.

Stargell singled in the tie-breaking run for the Pirates in the sixth inning and hit a two-run homer in the eighth. The homer tied Stargell with Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio for 24th place on the all-time home run list.

Jerry Reuss allowed five hits in eight innings and won his 10th game with the relief help of Dave Giusti. Burt Hooton suffered the loss for the Dodgers.

The Chicago Cubs defeated the San Diego Padres 3-1, in the only other National League game. Montreal at Atlanta was rained out.

In the American League, the Boston Red Sox nipped the Texas Rangers 8-7, the Minnesota Twins downed the New York Yankees 6-3, the Detroit Tigers shaded the Kansas City Royals 3-2, and the Baltimore Orioles topped the California Angels 7-3.

Cubs 3 Padres 1

Shortstop Enzo Hernandez' two-run throwing error in the second inning and Manny Trillo's run-scoring single in the seventh gave Ray Burris all the runs he needed to win his eighth game against six losses. Dave Freisleben allowed only two hits in six innings but was charged with his ninth defeat. He's won three games.

Red Sox 8 Rangers 7

Cecil Cooper singled home Denny Doyle with two out in the ninth inning to give the Red Sox their fourth straight victory after the Rangers tied the score in the top of the ninth on Jeff Burroughs' three-run homer. AL rookie sensation Fred Lynn went 3-for-4, including a three-run homer, and raised his RBI total for the season to 65. He's batting .339. The win ended Gaylord Perry's personal 13-game winning streak over the Red Sox.

Tigers 3 Royals 2

The Tigers ran their winning streak to nine games as Vern Ruhle allowed seven hits before giving way to Bob Reynolds in the ninth. The Tigers scored the winning run in the fifth when Ron LeFlore singled against loser Steve Busby, stole second, went to third on Leon Robert's fielder's choice bounce to shortstop.

Orioles 7 Angels 1

Mike Cuellar won his seventh game for the Orioles behind a 15 hit attack which included homers by Ken Singleton and Jim Northrup, four hits by Bobby Grich and two doubles and a triple by Elrod Hendricks.

All-Star Reserves Chosen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An 11-man reserve squad was named today for the National League All-Star team.

They were:

First basemen Bob Watson of Houston and Tony Perez of Cincinnati; second baseman Dave Cash, Philadelphia; shortstop Larry Bowa, Philadelphia; third baseman Bill Madlock, Chicago; outfielders Greg Luzinski, Philadelphia, Reggie Smith, St. Louis, Bobby Murcer, San Francisco, Gary Carter, Montreal and Al Oliver, Pittsburgh, and catcher Manny Sanguillen, Pittsburgh.

NL Manager Walt Alton, Los Angeles, also named Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh and Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst as coaches.

The NL team meets the American League Tuesday night in Milwaukee.

On Thursday, American League Manager Alvin Dark chose 12 players to round out his team, and among his selections was Henry Aaron of Milwaukee, who will tie the record of 24 All-Star appearances if he plays Tuesday. Willie Mays and Stan Musial currently share the record.

The others chosen by Dark were first baseman Carl Yastrzemski and rookie outfielder Fred Lynn of Boston; California third baseman Dave Chalk; Chicago's double play combo of shortstop Bucky Dent and second baseman Jorge Orta; outfielder George Hendrick of Cleveland; catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit; outfielder Hal McRae of Kansas City; Milwaukee first baseman George Scott; Texas first baseman Mike Hargrove and Oakland outfielder Claudell Washington.

Twitty Beats Wind and Par

MOLINE, Ill. (UPI) — Howard Twitty, a 6-foot-5, 200-pound rookie playing in his first PGA tournament, fought off some of the windiest conditions of the year Thursday and fired a five-under-par 66 to take the first round lead in the $75,000 Quad Cities Open.

"I wasn't very nervous," said Twitty, 26, of Phoenix, Ariz., after his hot round on the 6,400-yard Oakwood Country Club course. "But I'm a lot more nervous now."

At day's end, he held a one-shot lead over four veterans Terry Dill and Dave Eichelberger and was two shots ahead of Frank Beard, who is struggling to end a four-year victory drought on the PGA tour. Sam Snead, defending champion Dave Stockton, Barney Thompson, Allen Miller, Grier Jones, Bruce Lietzke shot 69s and were three shots back.

Twitty, one of huskiest prospects to join the tour, cleared the PGA's qualifying school in his third try this spring. The long-hitting rookie was successful Monday in his first try at qualifying for a pro tournament when he shot a 73 to meet the standard for the Quad Cities event.

He completed his first nine holes Thursday in one-under-par 34, then reeled off birdies on Nos. 12, 13, 14 and 15 to surge into the lead.

"I just wanted to get started in this tournament," the former Arizona State golf all-American said. "I would have gladly taken a 71 or 72 at the start of the day."

Although it was his first PGA tournament appearance, Twitty had plenty of experience for a rookie.

"I played in the Asian golf circuit the past two years and won the Thailand Open this past March," he said.

Once in the Malaysian Open, he said, "I reached into my bag for a club and found a seven-foot cobra. I took a seven on that hole."

Noting his unusual size for a pro golfer, Twitty said he picked the sport because he wasn't "tall enough, fast enough or coordinated enough" for basketball.

Until Twitty started rolling in birdie putts, Dill and Eichelberger, who own just one tournament victory between them despite a combined 20 years on the tour, were in command.

Dill, 36, who rejoined the tour last February after a three-year absence, didn't take a bogey and recorded four birdies. "It was extremely windy today...the most we've played in a few months," he said. "I felt the greens held well due to the rain we had last night. This is one of the nicest little courses we play. It's a challenge. It's very easy to take a bogey out there."

Eichelberger, 31, hasn't won on the tour since he captured the Greater Milwaukee Open in 1971, but he said Thursday he was "swinging away from the ball better than ever."

Beard shied away from news after carding his 68. His last tournament victory was in 1971 at New Orleans. In June, he squandered a comfortable lead in the final round of the U.S. Open at Medinah Country Club in Medinah, Ill.

Ruffian Well Insured

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Ruffian, the champion filly destroyed after being injured in her match race Sunday with Foolish Pleasure, was insured for $2.1 million by Lloyds of London, it was reported Thursday.

The Sacramento Bee said Ruffian's owner, Stuart Janney Jr., added $900,000 to an existing $1.2 million policy a short time before the match race in which she broke two sesamoid bones in her right foreleg.

Despite efforts by veterinarians to save her with surgery, Ruffian was destroyed.

The Bee, quoting an unnamed source, said Fasig-Tipton Co. of Elmont, N.Y., handled the purchase of the insurance for Janney with Lloyds.

"Insurance of $1 million would certainly be within the limits as a bloodmare, but as an active runner and considering her potential earnings, the animal would be worth a lot more," the Bee source said.

Ruffian earned $313,429 before the nationally televised 1 1/4-mile match race. Despite not finishing Sunday, the coalblack filly was awarded $125,000.

LPGA Czar's Goal: To Get More Exposure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ray Volpe, the newly named "first commissioner" of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, promises to get more exposure for the LPGA tour series through "a lot of hard work, chasing up and down the street."

"This would be a giant stride towards greater recognition," added Volpe, who was hired away from the National Hockey League Tuesday after being recommended by former National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy. He replaced E.M. (Bud) Erickson, whose contract was not renewed.

Volpe met with newsmen prior to the start of the $65,000 Columbus LPGA Classic at Riviera Country Club here Thursday. Carol Mann, president of the LPGA executive board, was also present at the conference and explained the reasoning for the new title.

"The LPGA has never had a commissioner," said Miss Mann. "We feel that with the prestige, recognition and dignity of the position, the title commissioner is in order."

Miss Mann said the two main areas of concern for Volpe will be administering the functions of the LPGA as set down in the organization's guidelines and the development of the tour on a whole, including a larger staff.

Miss Mann said the LPGA suffered from "a very basic problem."

"Our biggest handicap is that we haven't had enough money to put on the staff to tell our story," she said.

A possibility for the future is a combined male-female tournament, featuring top players of both the LPGA and PGA tours competing in team play.

"I think it is terrific," Miss Mann said when asked her feelings on such an event, adding that most of the LPGA members felt the same. "But they did insist on equal prize money."

Volpe, who had seen only one LPGA event prior to accepting the job, said he would like to see the LPGA become a "major league" sport.

Boost in Hunting Fees Likely

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A bill increasing the cost of hunting, fishing and trapping licenses needs only Gov. Hugh L. Carey's signature to become law.

The measure, given final legislative approval Thursday in the Assembly, would raise resident license fees $2 each. The combination hunting and fishing license would be raised from $7.75 to $11.25 and the big game license would go from $4.25 to $5.25.

Non-resident fees would be boosted by much larger amounts, with the non-resident deer and bear license going from $17 to $52.50.

Assemblyman Glenn H. Harris, R-Canada Lake, bitterly opposed the bill, charging that its sponsor, Assemblyman Herbert A. Posner, D-Queens, "has shaded the facts in a few cases."

That remark drew a vociferous objection from Posner, who read a memo supporting the plan from the State Conservation Council, a major sportsmen's group.

Harris charged that the group had supported the bill on the basis that the increased fees would go into the Conservation Fund, "to be matched dollar for dollar by the state" and used for the improvement and management of fish and game.

He said the bill enacted called for only a $1 per license contribution to the fund from the state's general fund. Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson, R-Hornell, said the difference between the increased cost of licenses and the amount paid into the fund "represents nothing more than a back-door attempt to make more money for the state."

Posner said that failure to increase the fees would necessitate the firing of up to 57 state conservation officers. Harris contended that with recent expansion of the officers' duties to investigate anti-pollution violations "only a small percentage of their time is spent on wildlife management and now the state is asking the sportsman to pay for it."

First Qualifying Ever For U.S. Women's Open

NORTHFIELD, N.J. — A record field of 185 has filed entry for the 23rd United States Women's Open Championship, forcing the first qualifying round in the history of the event.

The qualifying round will be played Monday, July 14, at the Atlantic City Country Club. The championship proper will be played at Atlantic City, July 17 through July 20. The starting field at Atlantic City will comprise 150 players, of which 111 are exempt from qualifying under any of 10 categories established by the USGA. This leaves 74 others to compete for 39 places in the 18-hole qualifying round.

Among the better players who must qualify are Mrs. Philip J. Cudone of Myrtle Beach, S.C., who has won the USGA Senior Women's Amateur Championship five consecutive years, and Miss Michelle Walker, a former British Ladies champion. Also attempting to qualify is Miss Lauren Howe of Colorado Springs, Colo., runnerup to Miss Nancy Lopez of Roswell, N.M., in the Girl's Junior last year.

Among the exempt players are 13 former Women's Open Champions, including Miss Sandra Haynie, who won last year at the LaGrange Country Club, LaGrange, Ill. Others are Miss Carol Mann, co-runnerup with Miss Beth Stone last year and winner in 1965, when the Women's Open was last played in Atlantic City.

Other exempt former champions include: Mrs. Susie Berning (1968-73); Mrs. JoAnne Carner (1971); Mrs. Donna Caponi Young (1969-70); Miss Sandra Spuzich (1966); Miss Mickey Wright (1958-59-61-64); Mrs. Muriel Breer (1962); Miss Betsy Rawls (1951-53-57-60); Mrs.

Set Slo-Pitch At Po'keepsie

POUGHKEEPSIE — The fifth annual Hudson Valley Area United States Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament will be held at Spratt Park Aug. 2 and 3 to qualify teams for the USSSA national tournaments during Labor Day weekend.

Interested teams should contact area director Dan McNamara, 8 Old English Way, Wappingers Falls, N.Y. Entry fee is $40 plus $10 USSA registration fee, and the entry deadline is July 23.

Rozelle: Rule Is Necessary

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League thinks the rule named after him is necessary for the expansion and maintenance of NFL clubs.

He also thinks the challenge of the rule in U.S. District Court here is the main reason for the stall in negotiations between the NFL club owners and the Players Association.

Rozelle spoke in defense of the rule before Judge Earl Larson Thursday. His testimony was to continue today.

He said there were a number of reasons for the state-mandated negotiations "but I guess the major reason is this litigation."

"The players expressed a desire last year to bargain on all but this issue," Rozelle said, "and the owners wanted to bargain on all issues including this one. The owners say they can't make firm commitments in certain areas and leave this hanging.

"I'm personally convinced...that an agreement could be reached in a matter of weeks through collective bargaining without this litigation," Rozelle said.

Fifteen present and former players are trying to overturn the option compensation clause, or Rozelle rule, which empowers the commissioner to set compensation — either players or draft choices — when an athlete who has become a free agent signs with another team.

Plaintiffs contend the provision is monopolistic and restricts a player's freedom of movement.

Rozelle said the number of clubs in the NFL would drop from 26 to 12 within a short time if the Rozelle rule were eliminated.

Rozelle, who prefers to call the rule the option-compensation clause, predicted a bidding war that would be disastrous for weaker clubs and ultimately harmful to players if the rule were eliminated.

"I feel the draft would be rendered virtually useless without the option-compensation clause," Rozelle said.

"The pattern is clear that down clubs have the opportunity to come up—they get there, and the draft is the main way it's done."

"In a relatively short period of time—five-six years—we'd be closer to 1960 when I became commissioner than to the 26 or 28 (clubs) counting the Tampa and Seattle expansion teams now."

There were 12 teams when Rozelle took over, Dallas was added later in 1960, Minnesota in 1961, and eight teams were added when the American Football League merged with the NFL.

"With fewer franchises operating, there would be fewer jobs for football players," Rozelle said.

Rozelle said wages for "name players" would go up in a "free market" situation, but added "in time there would be a settling, with less jobs because the weaker clubs could not exist in those circumstances."

Vols Bazaar

GLASCO The Glasco Fire Company's annual bazaar, one of the larger such events in the county, will be held July 11 and 12 at the Glasco Firehouse.

President Joseph Fabiano mentioned that the company has had rain for five consecutive years and hopes for fair weather this time around. Canvassing for funds has begun and will continue through July 12. Mike Sasso, canvass chairman, asked all area residents to contribute as much as possible. Donations are used to finance the bazaar and fireworks, with profits used as firehouse operating expenses.

Anthony Riozzi is general bazaar chairman for the 14th straight year.

Mousetrap Set July 16

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened lower today in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which finished unchanged Thursday, was off 0.39 point to 871.48. Declines led advances, 153 to 128, among the 430 issues crossing the tape.

Turnover amounted to about 30,000 shares.

Just as the market opened, New York's trending First National City Bank raised its prime rate to 7 1/2 per cent as many had predicted. Citibank's formula, based on short-term interest rates, called for the increase. The prime had declined from 12 per cent last October.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board reported a $197 million decline in loan demands at New York's 12 leading banks following four increases.

Closing quotations yesterday for Loeb, Rhoades, and Co., members of New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange, Kingston Plaza, Kingston, N.Y., Joseph Garvala, resident manager. Phone 341-1900.

Citibank Increase In Prime

NEW YORK (UPI) — First National City Bank, reacting to the tightening of money and credit by the Federal Reserve, today raised its interest rate for prime business loans to 7 1/2 per cent from 7 percent.

In recent weeks, the Fed has imposed restrictions on money and credit to slow the growth in the nation's monetary supplies.

Citibank, the nation's second largest and a trendsetter on interest rates, last week raised the prime for the first time since early January, bringing its level to 7 percent, the prevailing rate held by most other commercial banks.

The increase today puts Citibank a quarter of a percentage point above the national norm, and other banks were expected to match its increase to 7 1/2 per cent.

The prime is a barometer for other commercial and consumer interest rates, and it often reflects Federal Reserve policy on credit and monetary policy.

When the prime goes up, it generally means the Fed is promoting a tighter policy — restricting the flow of money into the nation's economy to discourage spending and borrowing.

When the prime goes down, it generally means the Fed is loosening the reins — putting more money into the system to encourage spending and borrowing.

Changed

In a Letter to the Editor appearing in Wednesday's edition of The Freeman a word was inadvertently added changing the meaning of a sentence.

It should have read: "In 1570 during a period of widespread attack upon the Mass, Pope St. Pius V issued the solemn decree Quo Primum — ordering that the Tridentine Mass was to be used throughout the Catholic world 'in PERPETUITY'."

The letter was submitted by Rose M. Aprea and Louis V. Aprea.

FUNERAL NOTICES

Memoriam
In loving memory of my husband and our father, Thomas J. Wolf Sr. who passed away thirteen years ago, July 11, 1962. A little corner in our hearts, is set aside for you. As long as life and memory lasts.

We will always remember you. Wife, Marie, Daughter, Elizabeth Sons, Harold, Thomas J. Jr., John & Joseph

Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife and mother, Theresa D. Nerone, who passed away 1 year ago, July 11, 1974. God took her home, it was His will. But in our hearts we love her still.

Her memory is as dear today As in the hour she passed away. We often sit and think of her When we are all alone. For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our daughter and our sister, Theresa D. Nerone, who passed away 1 year ago July 11, 1974. Her helping hand was always first. To render any aid she could; Her voice was always raised in praise. Her words were wise and good. Dear daughter and sister, since you've gone away, The ones you loved so true, Try hard to carry on the way. We know you'd want us to. Mom, Dad, Sisters & brother

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement.

We would also like to thank the Kingston Police Dept., Ulster Co. Sheriff's Dept., Kingston, Ulster Hose and Port Ewen Fire Depts. and our special thanks to Beth Buzzanco in her attempt to rescue our son.

Historic Visit to Historic Town

President Ford will visit Mackinac Island this weekend, the historic recreation area where motor vehicles are banned and transportation is by horsedrawn carriages or bicycles. It will be the first visit to the island, located in the straits, between Michigan's two peninsulas, by a president in office. (UPI)

'Summon Castro'...Goldwater

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee investigating intelligence operations today called in more former top ranking government officials to testify on alleged CIA assassination plots.

One panel member suggested Cuban leader Fidel Castro — a reported target — be asked what he knew.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, D-Ariz., a member of the Senate's Select Committee on Intelligence, suggested Thursday the panel question Castro either in Cuba or the United States.

"I believe the way to get to the heart of this matter is to go directly to the man who has allegedly been the target of a CIA plot," Goldwater said. "After we hear his story we can weigh it in light of all the information the Select Committee has received."

One committee source said: "How the hell could they ask Castro to come here?" But he sidestepped as "something else" the question whether the committee might send a mission to Cuba to talk to Castro.

Meanwhile, Alexander M. Butterfield, who disclosed existence of the secret White House tapes two years ago and thus speeded the downfall of Richard M. Nixon, was a CIA "contact officer" when he was on the White House staff, a retired Air Force Colonel said today.

Fletcher Prouty, who said he served as liaison between the Air Force and the Central Intelligence Agency for nine years, said he learned that Butterfield was working with the CIA from E. Howard Hunt, a former CIA agent and one of the original Watergate defendants.

Prouty said he "would doubt Nixon or anyone else really knew it." Committee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, presided over closed hearings Thursday at which the witnesses included former Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Thomas Parrott, a former CIA official and a national security adviser to Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy; Richard Goodwin, Kennedy's speechwriter; and William Attwood, former ambassador to Guinea and Kenya and now president and publisher of Newsday, Long Island, N.Y.

The committee today scheduled testimony from McGeorge Bundy, former national security adviser; former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and William Harvey, formerly of the CIA.

Church said next week the panel has summoned Attorney General Edward Levi and FBI Director Clarence Kelley to testify on alleged FBI political abuses and surveillance, wire-tapping and file-keeping on American citizens for non-criminal reasons.

Church complained in a letter to Levi that he had asked the FBI for related material two months ago and lack of response was holding up the committee's work.

Spacemen Make Final Plans

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — While technicians worked at America's oceanside launch pad, Russian engineers in the hot desert of Central Asia were mating the Soyuz spaceship to its rocket today for Tuesday's international spaceflight.

The five spacemen for the unprecedented orbital rendezvous also were making final preparations. Astronauts Thomas Stafford, Vance Brand and Donald K. "Deke" Slayton fly to the Cape from Houston Saturday. Cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov are already at Baikonur.

The Americans' training schedule included their last launch simulation in an Apollo spacecraft trainer followed by a final regularly scheduled Russian language lesson. They now speak Russian well enough to use it when they meet Leonov and Kubasov in orbit Thursday.

The mission is the final manned spaceflight for at least four years.

Non-Political Trip, but . . .

Ford Testing Michigan, Illinois Republicans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's week-end Midwestern trip gives him a chance to test his new candidacy against its twin threats of economic recession and Ronald Reagan conservatism.

Ford and the First Lady were scheduled to fly today to Traverse City, Mich., the first stop of an action-jammed three days in his home state and Chicago.

The White House said the trip was non-political. But it included a Saturday breakfast meeting with top Illinois Republicans and was Ford's first venture into the countryside since formally announcing his candidacy for the presidency three days ago.

Reagan, a possible opponent of Ford for the 1976 GOP nomination, is a native of Illinois, went to Eureka College there and is married to the daughter of a Chicago physician. His brand of conservatism is popular in Illinois, particularly downstate.

"If he wants to make mischief for Gerald Ford, the place to do it is Illinois," a key Illinois Republican told UPI.

Michigan, particularly Detroit-Flint and Ford's home town of Grand Rapids, has been economically depressed. One GOP party leader there told UPI the state's natural pride in the President has been tempered by the condition of the economy.

Ford planned to ride in the 49th annual National Cherry Festival Cherry Royale parade in Traverse City today and meet the community's two most prominent politicians — Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., an old colleague in the House, and Gov. William Milliken.

Ford will speak in Chicago tonight to the Mid-American Committee, a group of business executives. Mayor Richard Daley, one of the nation's most powerful Democrats, said he was too busy to meet Ford.

"Presidents come in and out," Daley said. "I unfortunately just have other commitments."

Ford will have breakfast with the Illinois Republican leaders, hold a regionally televised news conference in Chicago Saturday morning and give the commencement address at Chicago State University.

Then he flies back to Traverse City to play nine holes of golf in the Walter Hagen tournament. He will speak at the Interlochen Arts Academy at the invitation of its chairman, insurance magnate W. Clement Stone, who was Richard Nixon's biggest contributor in 1972.

He will return to Washington Sunday night.

Six Months of Continued Growth

The first six months of 1975 have been a period of continued growth for Heritage Savings Bank. On January 1, we merged with the Beacon Savings Bank; in March, we opened our new, ultra-modern office at the Dutchess Mall in Fishkill; we ended 1974 with three offices — whereas today we have seven offices serving Ulster, Dutchess and Rockland Counties, and, thanks to loyal customers like you, we passed for the first time the $200 million plateau in total assets. We've always been committed to growth, not just to get bigger, but to better serve the communities in which we do business. We reaffirm that commitment now and look towards the last half of the year with great optimism for a continuation of our growth pattern. Come along. Grow with Heritage.
